What is The Real Care Deal?

The Real Care Deal is a plan to make sure care services:

Are fair

Are honest

Help people live the life they choose

Why did we start it?

Cawston Park Hospital closed.

Three people - Joanna, Jon and Ben - died.

A review found they did not get the care they needed, even though lots of money was paid for specialist support.

What went wrong?

Buying services (commissioning)

Checking services (inspection)

Rules

Rules and standards (regulation)

No clear information about how public money was spent.

The review made recommendations to make things better in future.

What was recommended?

Norfolk Council and the Integrated Care Board should work together well.

The Integrated Care Board is the NHS organisation that buys and manages lots of local health care services.

Together, they should build a new, fair way to buy care.

They should:

Have clear values and treat people well

Be open and honest about decisions and spending

Employ local people

Treat staff well

Makes sure all the rules are followed

How did we build The Real Care Deal?

We teamed up with Curators of Change.

We ran workshops and meetings with more than 200 local people.

At these workshops, people said the most important thing is to act more human:

To be kind, respectful and caring.

Why 'The Real Care Deal'?

People didn't understand the term 'Ethical Framework'.

So we asked everyone what we should call the plan.

Calling it 'The Real Care Deal' felt positive and hopeful.

It promises real, good care for all.

What happens next?

People with lived experience share their stories as 'community reporters'.

We collect stories about what really matters.

Things like:

People feeling like they are listened to

People feeling valued

Human connection
